Let's keep things in perspective. It's basically where it was a year ago.

>Central banking
>Too big to fail
>World Bank
>International Monetary Fund

arent "capitalism". If capital can be created at will its not capital. All those things listed affect the purchasing power of ALL the currency in circulation - it affects the collective.

this is communism - global communism.

Nigger, this is a major black swan event. Wall Street is intelligent enough to know that nothing the US government does can change actions happening in China.

The fact that panic and mass food runs hasn't set in shows that the governments management of information is based as fuck and and average Americans are dumb as all hell. Trump starting a decoupling from China may actually be what saves us in the long run.
